General Company Description

TalentC: An Introduction

The main business of TalentC revolves around recruitment. Recruitment is a core function of human resource management. Recruitment refers to the overall process of attracting, selecting and appointing suitable candidates for jobs (either permanent or temporary) within an organization.

In TalentC, we prefer to keep things real. We're not perfect, and there are times when we face difficulties with some recruitment need, but we prefer to be real and upfront with our clients instead of sweet talking. Apart from that, our consultants are specialists in each sector they covered, thus they will be able to offer expert advices to both clients and job seekers alike.

Values in Recruiting

We believe that matching a job seeker with a career is a serious business. Unless you give motivated people something to believe in, something bigger than their job to work towards, they will motivate themselves to find a new job, and we'll be stuck with whoever's left, which is bad. Thus, we uphold three values in recruitment, which are:

- a. Recruit someone who loves what they are doing.
- b. Recruit someone who loves working with people.
- c. Recruit someone who are being themselves.

Our Promise

We are willing to do the tedious amount of work necessary to find you the one you deserve. Your vacancy and culture, we'll use all of our resources to discover and attract the best talents for you.

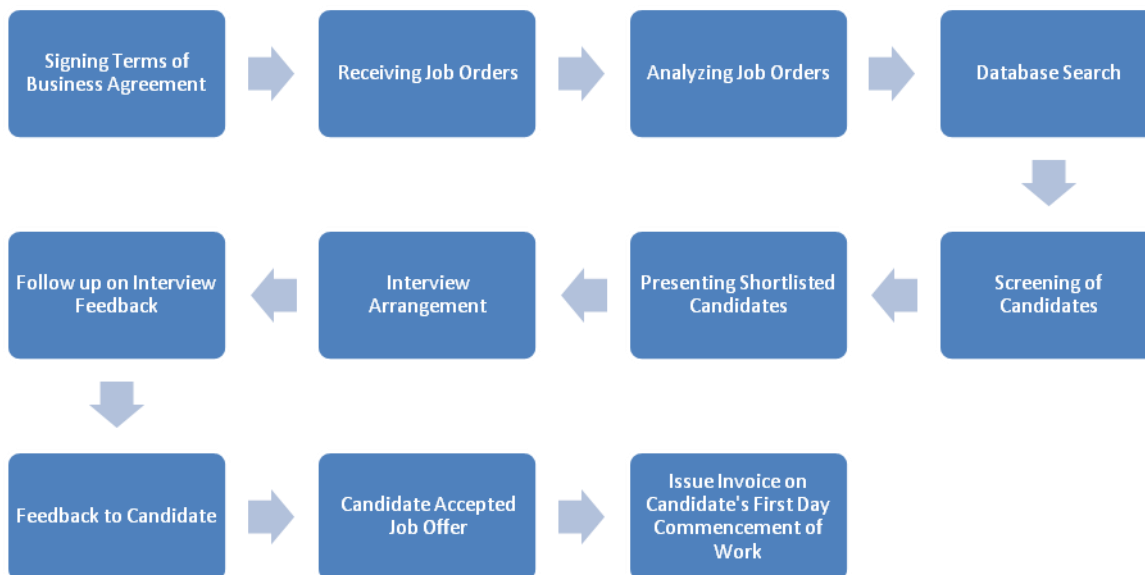

We also promise to be a learner, not a knower; Just because we've recruited someone with the same title in other company, that does not translate into your company need the same background and experience. We prefer to listen to you, rather than making our own judgements.
